

Denmark has the highest per capita food production in the world. Less than hundred thousand farmers produce food equivalent for 15 million people. danishknowhow[®] offer you access to state-of-the-art Danish knowhow within agriculture and food production danishknowhow[®] is an associated member of the Danish Agriculture and Food Council – and works in a close network with experts world-wide.

www.danishknowhow.com

Get ready for the future

Boost the outcome of your agricultural investment

- Prepare your company for future demands
- Increase employee motivation and knowledge
- Lift your company to becoming the best performing in your region

Raising the professional level of your management and employees is the fastest way to create sustainable profitability in your production.

Overview and focus danishknowhow[®] offers training programs targeted investors in agriculture and food industry.

Our training programs help participants to get a better understanding of their businesses and to pinpoint the areas they want and need to improve.

We offer short and intense programs that focus on demonstrating the latest knowledge and state-of-the-art technologies within the field. All with the eyes fixed on the main target – sustainable and maximum profitability.

Participants will be introduced to some of the most advanced agricultural businesses in the world. All programs combine theory as well as visits to farms and companies.

Furthermore participants will get a chance to work on the challenges in their own business. Programs are held in Denmark and locally in your own country.

After the training, your employees will be able to set new goals for the production and will have the capability to reach them.

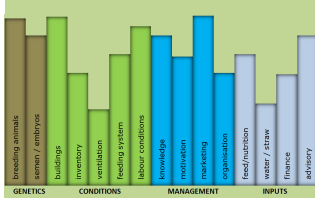

Workshops and training programs for professional farms

Our programs are targeted at persons involved in setting up agriculture and food production. This could be professional farmers, company owners, managers and public advisors.

Programs are customized for each group and are a combination of short training in Denmark, local training and online support.

High productivity is based on four pillars – genetics, conditions, input and management. An agricultural production is a combination of these, and the area that has the lowest performance will decide the output. The training programs will help you determine which area to focus on.

Contact

danishknowhow®
 Tel: +45 3012 8465
 info@danishknowhow.com

Program examples

Training programs are put together according to your business needs. Examples could be:

- Pig management training in Denmark - for specialists and farm managers. During two weeks, participants will be introduced to the Danish pig industry and experience some of the most efficient farms in the world.
- A six month program in dairy production. This program includes advanced training sessions in Denmark, combined with local training and online support.
- Agricultural inspiration workshop for top-managers and company owners. It is a one week course which offers lectures and visits to farms and companies. This course will also offer networking with potential Danish partners and investors.

Visit www.danishknowhow.com for a complete list of programs and signup. We look forward to starting a dialogue with you on how we can assist you in improving the human capacities in your business.